

Intrusion, Tswana Dub [Intrusion, 2008]

Contributed by playbynumbers
Monday, 13 October 2008
Last Updated Thursday, 16 October 2008

More dub-related goodness from the Rod Modell collective in Detroit; supposedly Intrusion is a mysterious producer who did some unreleased recordings in the mid-90's and has been 'discovered' by Modell, but I'm guessing this is just Basic Channel-esque self-mythologization. Though, as I've said before, and will probably say again; Modell is a true savant, and could rightly be called the one-man heir to the Basic Channel sound. "Tswana Dub" is probably closest to the Rhythm & Sound axis of Ernestus/Oswald's output - reggae/dub from deep, deep outer space. Highly recommended!

Style: Techno, Dub

RIYL: Rhythm & Sound, Deepchord

Buy from Boomkat Echospace Official Site

Download: Tswana Dub \(Phase90 Restructure\)